

FDA Regulatory Associate

Manatt, Phelps & Phillips, LLP is seeking a highly qualified associate with two to five years of experience to join our nationally recognized healthcare regulatory practice to work on medical device regulatory matters in our San Francisco or Washington, D.C. office.

Ideal candidates will have experience researching FDA medical device regulatory issues; providing advice on regulatory pathways; drafting regulatory submissions such as 510(k) Notices, Investigational Device Exemptions (IDEs), De Novo Requests and Premarket Approval Applications (PMAs); preparing responses to FDA premarket review; and posting market compliance questions and deficiencies. Scientific, health or biotech background is preferred. Experience at FDA is a plus.

Requirements:

- Two to five years of experience or demonstrated interest in handling FDA medical device matters (scientific, health or biotech background preferred).
- Stellar academic credentials and excellent writing, research and analytical skills.
- A self-starter, highly motivated, intellectually curious, with the ability to work independently as well as in collaboration with others in a fast-paced environment.
- California or D.C. Bar membership in good standing.
